KIRMAN RUG, EARLY XVII CENTURY. PRESENTED BY MRS. CHARLES W. BAIRD

ORIENTAL RUG ACQUIRED

Among the recent gifts to the Museum is a XVII century Persian rug, presented by Mrs. Charles W. Baird.

Characteristically Persian, it shows a dark field covered with flower filled vases, against a trellis background. The borders, of which there are three, carry running floral designs. The predominating color is a deep rose red and the use of delicate blue, green and fawn in parts of the ornamentation makes a rich harmony of color for which such rugs are noted.
